ANOTHER BATTLE REPORTED

CHINESE FIGHT THREE ALLIES

Russian, German and Japanese Troops Sent in a Rush to Pekin Fight Heavily. The Cabinet in Session all Day Long Yesterday—A Plot to Burn Shanghai—Are the Allies Moving?

By Wire to the Telegram.

New York, Aug. 30—A Journal special from London says that a great battle is reported at Shanghai as having taken place between the allies and the Boxers who had massed at Yang Tsun and Peitsay. The battle took place at Po-Si-Wu. Prince Tuan is reported to be among the slain. The Chinese losses number fifteen hundred. The routed troops were driven into Chi-Li province. The allied troops engaged were Russian, German and Japanese reinforcements who left Tien Tsin on a rush march to Pekin.

A Shanghai dispatch says that a plot to burn the city has been discovered. The excitement is great among foreigners there and the situation is deemed dangerous in spite of the fact that precaution has been taken by the commanders to prevent an outbreak. The landing of British and French troops is said to be rosponsible for the plots of the natives.

THE ALL DAY CABINET SESSION.

Washington, Aug 29.—The longest cabinet session held in years adjourned at 5.30 o'clock this evening, after having been in sesssion, with the exception of an hour's recess at 1:30, since 10 o'clock in the morning The session was devoted to the consideration of the diplomatic problems which have arisen in connection with the Chinese situation as a result of the position taken by the powers and it eventuated in the formulation of a document for transmission abroad. That this document is of supreme importance in defining the position of the United States is assumed from the prolonged and careful attention with which it was prepared and considered, but no glimmer of light is shed upon its exact character.

The diplomatic and not the military phase of the situation in China was under consideration. Last evening Assistant Secretary Adee and the French charge d'affaires compared copies of credentials of Li Hung Chang and today he had a long talk with Mr. Wu and the German charge d'affaires and the substance of these conversations he laid before the cabinet. It is understood that the cabinet today completed preparations of a plan for clearing away much of the uncertainty now existing as to the future in China and outlined its views in writing. The fact that the military situation is admitted to be of secondary importance confirms this view, though no cabinet officers would vouchsafe information on this point that what is sought is an agreement among the powers for terminating the indefinite status of affairs in China. It is believed that the point has been reached where it is proper that there should be a clear expression of purpose on the part of the principal powers in order that the United States government may know how far it may go consistently in the execution of the common programme. Most of the objects had in view by the President when he made answer to the Chinese government's appeal and began the campaign upon Pekin, have been achieved. The others remain to be secured, namely, the safeguarding of American interests for the future and some proper guarantee for indemnification for the expenses of recent operations and losses of American citizens.

Mrs. Cozart to Speak.

Mrs. T. G. Cozart, of Winston, State secretary of the Young Woman's Christian Temperance Union, will speak at Grace M. P. church this evening. She has a message specially for the young people, all of whom are cordially invited.

May Locate in Greensboro.

Mr. T. J. Murphy, of Washington, D. C., a recent graduate of the Columbian University of that city, is spending a few days in Grsensboro. He is looking the field over and may locate here for the practice of his profession.

FOR THE BAND.

Mr. J. M. Hendrix Proposes to be One to Help it Out—Who Will Join Him?

Mr. J. M. Hendrix, this morning came into The Telegram office and said the Gate City Band was just now in need of $50 per month to pay its necessary expenses, that the band was a great benefit to the city, doing a great deal to advertise it outside, and in other ways, and that for the sake of having such a good band the citizens ought to be willing to contribute something towards helping them over temporary embarressment and putting them on their feet. Mr. Hendrix says, therefore, that he will be one of twenty-five to give two dollars per month for six months, or, better, one of fity to give, each, one dollar per month for six months. That will be a wonderful benefit to the band. Who else will be one of the fifty or one of the twenty-five. We will publish the names of those who volunteer, either for this proposition, or to give any other amount. The list today is on either proposition:

A BUSINESS THAT GROWS.

Mr. J. H. Neese to Build a New Business House on East Washington Street.

Mr. J. H. Neese, who recently removed his marble yard from Sycamore to East Washington street, is preparing to make extensive improvements at his new place of business. Work has already begun on a handsome new brick building which will replace the old corrugated iron structure now occupied, and Mr. Neese will soon have quarters to be proud of. The new structure will have a cement floor, raised several inches above the street.

Mr. Neese has recently received a large shipment of fine tomb-stones and monuments, which he is placing on display in a most tasty manner. His business has grown phenomenally during the last few years, and when his present arrangements are carried out, he will have one of the neatest marble yards in the State.

MR. TATE CHANGES BASE.

He Leaves the Greensboro National Bank to Engage in Manufacturing.

Mr. H. A. Tate, who has been with the Greensboro National Bank for six years, will sever his connection with that institution tomorrow in order to engage in business for himself. He will be associated with Mr. W. Giles Mebane in the manufacture of excelsior, the style of the firm being the Excelsior Manufacturing Company.

This is a comparatively new manufacturing enterprise in Greensboro, but one which promises to meet with great success. Messrs. Mebane and Tate will devote their entire time and energy to building up and expanding the business.

Baptist Association Meets Here.

The Piedmont Baptist Association will meet at Cherry Street church, this evening at 8 o'clock. Three sessions will meet daily, morning, afternoon and evening, continuing through Sunday.

The introductory sermon will be preached this evening by Rev. Thomas Carrick, of High Point.

Mr. R. W. Brooks is moderator of the Association.

Colored Firemen Want Help.

The annual meeting of the colored firemen of the State will be held in Salisbury on September 11th. The Excelsior Hose and Reel Company, of this city, wishes to attend and enter some of the contests, but will be unable to do so without financial assistance. Members of the company will call on the citizens of Greensboro and will appreciate any contributions that may be made.

Bound Over to Court.

Mayor Taylor had a small court yesterday afternoon and bound two defendants over to court, one of them being a common negro chicken thief. The other was Will Collins, who assaulted Chief of Police Scott, Tuesday afternoon. He gave bond in the sum of $50 for his appearance at the next term of Guilford Superior Court.

RUSSIA'S SHARP PLAN

TRYING TO BLOCK GERMANY.

TO WITHDRAW TROOPS AT ONCE.

If the Imperial Family is Returned to Pekin and the Troops Withdrawn, Germany Will Have No Excuse for Declaring War for the Purpose of Dividing Up China---Policy of the Government to be Announced Today.

By Wire to the Telegram

Washington, Aug 30.—The full text of the United States' proposal on the Chinese question is to be made public today. It is learned that, taking Russia's proposal as a text, the United States has set forth in its memorandum, what, in the opinion of the President and Cabinet, is said to be the policy of the allied powers, and in its place, its own policy.

It is understood that Russia's proposition looks toward the recognition of Li Hung Chang as a representative of the Chinese government at least in the preliminary negotiations. He is to see to it that the imperial family goes back to Pekin, from which the foreign troops are to be withdrawn, and there carry on diplomatic negotiations with the foreign governments looking towards permanent peace.

Russia is particularly anxious to have prompt action taken for the purpose of heading off Germany in its intention to send a large army to China and declare war as the beginning of her plan to destroy the dynasty and divide the territory among the victors.

AT WESTMINSTER CHURCH.

Interest in the Revival Increases—Subject for This Evening and Tomorrow.

Reported for The Telegram.

In spite of the rain, a good congregation assembled in Westminster church last night to hear Mr. Little's sermon on "The Worth of the Soul." He announced as his text Mark viv: 36, 37, "For what shall it profit a man, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? Or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?" It was a most impressive sermon, showing most conclusively to every thinking mind that it is the great mistake to lose the soul for any wordly consideration.

This morning at 11 o'clock Mr. Little preached his second sermon on the "Holy Spirit." His theme was "The names of the Holy Spirit as indicative of his offices and work," and his text was John xiv: 26, "But the Comforter which is the Holy Ghost, whom the Father will send in my name, he shall teach you all things, and bring all things to your remembrance, whatsoever I have said unto you."

In the introduction to the sermon the preacher showed briefly that scriptural names are significant, and, after having explained why the third person of the Trinity is called "Holy" and why he is called "Spirit," he then took up and discussed the significance of three scriptural names applied to the Holy Spirit in the word of God, viz: Witness, teacher and comforter. This sermon was very insructive and will prove helpful to those who are seeking a higher spiritual life.

The subject of the sermon this evening will be "Hindrances to the Christian Life and How to Overcome Them." If you have any hindrances in your Christian life, go out tonight and hear this sermons. It may be that the spirit of God will through it lead you into a brighter and more blessed Christian experience.

Tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock the subject of the sermon will be "The Constant Condition of Discipleship." You are invited to go out and share the rich gospel truths which are being preached so earnestly and faithfully by the servant of God.

Boss Dog of the Bone Yard.

Mr. A. J. Williams, foreman of the Christian Advocate composing room, has a dog of the terrier species of which he is very proud. The little canine weighs just 81 ounces, but thinks he's the biggest dog in the block.

THE FIREMEN APPRECIATED.

Greensboro Loan and Trust Company Expresses Thanks in a Substantial Way.

The splendid work done by the firemen at yesterday's conflagration is appreciated by the citizens of Greensboro generally, and especially by those whose property was saved from destruction. There is no doubt but that the prompt and faithful work of the department prevented a heavy fire loss.

The Greensboro Loan and Trust Company, which is located in the building that was on fire, is deeply sensible of the good work done by the firemen and expresses its thanks in a substantial manner by making a cash contribution of $25 to the department. Chief Taylor wos today notified of the contribution by the following letter:

F. N. TAYLOR, ESQ.,
Chief Greensboro Fire Dept,

DEAR SIR:—We enclose $25 for the firemen. They saved us loss and very great inconvenience by their splendid service yesterday.

Yours truly,
GREENSBORO LOAN & TRUST CO.,

COL. WADDELL'S ANNOUNCEMENT.

He Follows the Example of Gen. Carr and Mr. Simmons and Solicits the Votes of the People.

Special to The Telegram.

Wilmington, Aug. 29.—The following card was issued today: "To the Democratic voters of North Carolina: I respectfully inform you that I am a candidate for the nomination to the United States Senate, which is to be made by the primaries on the 6th of November, next, and as such solicit your votes. If either of the candidates for that position has served the Democratic party and the State of North Carolina longer and better and has done more to establish white supremacy, and is otherwise better fitted for the place than myself, I think he ought to be preferred to me. Whether that be the case or not is for the people to decide, and I shall bow to their decision, "(Signed.)

"ALFRED MOORE WADDELL."

Two Candidates Initiated Last Night—The Lodge Growing.

The Greensboro Elks had a hot time at their meeting last night. Two candidates were initiated into the mysteries of the B. P. O. E., and the work was done to the queen's taste. The subjects were Messrs. Harris, of Reidsville, and Will Holt, of Burlington. They furnished ample amusement to the crowd. The initiatory work was the best yet done by the Greensboro Elks. It was in charge of Messrs. G. Daniel and A. T. Powe, two of the "babies."

The lodge is in a very flourishing condition and has a bright future before it. The membership is growing steadily, new members being initiated at every meeting.

To the Editor of the Telegram:

Is there not an ordiuance compelling owners of asses and such animals to keep them confined? If there is such a law we wish those whose duty it is to enforce law, would happen down on Walker avenue some night about 10 or 11 o'clock. If an animal is to be named from the noise he makes, there has been a very large ass running at large in that neighborhood for several weeks. Although this four legged (?) animal seems to amuse certain young people very much, yet, his owner should remember that such a noise as he makes, disturbs these who are sick in the neighborhood, and if he will not muzzle him or stop the racket in some effective way, he should be made to remove him from a civilized community,

There are very few people who relish the idea of being awakened from their slumbers by the unearthly braying of a human donkey, as a great many were, on Monday night.

We would, also again, respectfully call the attention of the sanitary officer, to the fact that a pipe, the contents of which, leaves a slimy, green coating on the ground, empties in the gutter on this same street. H.

The front of the wooden store building on the corner of North Davie and East Market street, the property of D. E. Thomas, is being remodelled.

WOMAN DROWNED AT NEWPORT.

A Body Found in the Water This Morning Without Dress or Shoes—Evidences that It was a Women of Wealth.

By Wire to the Telegram.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 30.—The body of a woman was found this morning in the water off Newport's famous cliffs almost directly in front of the New Cliff Hotel. No dress, skirt, or shoes, were on the body and the underclothing was of the most delicate description. A pair of valuable ear-rings, of the screw pattern were in the ears and on the third finger of the left hand were two rings, one a solitare diamond and the other a gold wedding ring. Within the latter was engraved "E. M. K. to M. F. K. June 20, 1900."

A Wyoming Train Robbery.

By Wire to The Telegram.

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 30.—Word was received here this morning that the overland flyer of the Union Pacific had been held up at Table Rock, Wyoming. The officials are reticent but admitted that the through train had been robbed, and the express car robbed, but disclosed no details.

Thinks Corbett Will Lick McCoy in Ten Rounds.

By Wire to The Telegram.

New York, Aug. 30.—Sharkey thinks Corbett will knock out McCoy in the tenth round at Madison Square Garden tonight. He first thought McCoy would win, but now admits that his decision was made because he was prejudiced.

Operator Catches a Burglar.

By Wire to The Telegram.

Binghamton, N. Y., Aug. 30.—A daring capture of a burglar was made by a telegraph operator at the Erie depot early this morning. The burglar was in the act of robbing the station when the operator discovered him.

Killed by Falling From a Train.

By Wire to The Telegram.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 30.—Thos. J. Powers, commissioner of banking for Pennsylvania, and a leading Republican, was found dead on the outskirts of the city this morning. It is supposed that he fell from a train.

As to the Curfew Law.

Something was said yesterday in a light vein about a curfew ordinance which was passed by the Aldermen, and which there was never any attempt to enforce.

In all seriousnes some people want to know why there was never any attempt to enforce this ordinance. The gentlemen who introduced it did it in order that it might be enforced as any other law, and the Board passed it, presumably, with the same intention. The question for explanation is why it was never enforced.

A Guessing Party.

Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Lash gave a guessing party at their elegant home last night complimentary to their niece, little Miss Mary Murphy. The pictures of distinguished men were placed upon a screen, and the one correctly guessing the greatest number of names received a prize. The prize, a bottle of Lazell's toilet water, was won by little Miss Sadie Dick.

Those present were: Misses Emma Sharp, Sadie Dick, Mary and Alice Callum, Maude White, Alice Houston, Mary Benbow, and Master Settle Sharp.

Court Moving Along Slowly.

Business in the Superior Court does not move so briskly since the civil docket was reached. It is thought that the cases set for trial on Monday may be disposed of by the close of court Saturday evening.

Only one case has been heard today—J. R Wall vs. Reuben Cole, colored. The plaintiff built a house for the defendant and is suing for a balance due.

Hung Jury Discharged.

After deliberating for three days, and being unable to reach a decision, the jury in the case of State vs. Roscoe Murray was discharged last night and a mistrial ordered. The offence for which the defendant was indicted was a simple case of carrying concealed weapons, but it proved a knotty question for the jury.

THE GLADLY-RECEIVED RAIN.

TEN CENTS COTTON IS BANKED UPON.

Atwater Will be Renominated for Congress by the Democrats—Wake Forest Opens With 225 and the Baptist University Will Follow With 300—Tennessee Don't Care a Fig About the Meeting of the Agriculturalists.

Special Correspondence of The Telegram.

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 30.—Never was a rain more enjoyed here than the heavy one which fell here yesterday evening and ended the dominion of the dust, for a while at least.

There appears to be no doubt that the Democrats will re-nominate John W. Atwater for Congress in this district. His principal opponent, Edward W. Pou, announces his retirement from the contest for the nomination. Congressman Atwater has certainly earned the re-nomination. He did zealous and effective work, particularly in Nash and Chatham counties, where it was most needed, and he made no less than 95 speeches during the campaign.

The fall term of the Baptist Female University here begins next Wednesday. There will be 300 students. Of these 85 will be in the main building and 80 in the dormitory buildings, one of which was bought yesterday. Later a dormitory for 100 will be built.

There is a lull just now in the granting of charters to cotton mills. However during the eighth month of this year 27 charters have been granted, which is certainly a fair showing.

The attendance at today's session of the committee of cotton states commissioners of agriculture increased. Another commissioner of agriculture arrived—Frank Hill of Arkansas. From one state nothing has been heard whatever regarding the attendance upon the meeting, that State being Tennessee. No reply to letters has ever been received. Tennessee don't seem to feel much interest in the movement. By the way, it appears that State has no agricultural and mechanical college.

The democratic national campaign in this State begins Sept. 10. Official notice of this date is being sent out.

President Dugger, of the Alabama Agricultural and Industrial College, arrived today as a delegate to the Convention of Agricultural Commissioners.

There were rains nearly all around this city late yesterday afternoon; perhaps we should say showers, and not rains. In fact one of the peculiarities of this unforgetable summer, is that there have been only two real rains; one in June and one in July. All the others have been "showers in streaks." As the showers so the crops.

There are not a few people who are sure there will be 10-cent cotton this fall, and some are willing to wager that it will go to 12. But the other States may outshine the desperate plight of this one so far as the cotton crop is concerned.

Handsome badges, prepared by the State Agricultural Department, were given out today to the delegates to the Cotton States Commissioners Convention. They are white and red satin, with a celluloid pendant, bearing the name and seal of the department. On the satin is this inscription, "Second Annual Convention Cotton States Commissioners of Agriculture. Aug. 28-31, 1900."

The lynching in Rutherford county yesterday was the second in this State this year. North Carolina is running quite light in the matter of lynchings.

The Raleigh Hosiery Yarn Mills has sold its "mule" spinners, made in 1890, to a mill at Huntsville, Ala., and is putting in new ones which will spin finer yarns.

The textile machinery at the Agricultural and Mechanical College is being rapidly installed in the old chapel, in the north wing basement of the main building. Until a chapel is built the mess hall will be used as one.

Why It Needed Revision.

"To whom do you intend to give the villain's part?" asked the dramatist.

"Walker, of course," answered the manager.

"What! That stick!" exclaimed the dramatist.

"He's the only one available," explained the manager.

"Then give me back my play," said the dramatist.

"Surely, you don't intend to withdraw it," protested the manager.

"Oh, no," answered the dramatist. "I only want to revise it. The villain isn't killed off until the last act as it stands now, you know."—Chicago Post.

A 4-YEAR-OLD SHOOTS HIMSELF.

A Most Distressing Affair at the Home of Mr. Jas. T. LeGrand in Richmond County.

Rockingham, August 28—Herman Baumgarten, the little 4-year-old boy of Mr. Louis Weill, of this place, shot himself at the residence of Mr. James T. LeGrand this morning, carrying off one side of his head, resulting in his death a few hours later.

There was a double-barreled breech-loading shot-gun in the hallway and little Herman, seeing it, began to play with it, none of Mr. LeGrand's family being in that part of the house and not knowing that Herman was there at all. In some way both barrels of the gun were discharged and the load struck Herman just above the right ear, plowing a gash about four inches long and one inch wide, taking the skull away and causing the brain to ooz out. The family are grief-stricken, Mrs. Weill being almost prostrated.

The whole town sympathize greatly with them in this most horrible accident.

No blame is attached to any one.

BRESCI IMPRISONED FOR LIFE.

TAKES HIS FATE INDIFFERENTLY

The Slayer of the King of Italy Gets the Extreme Penalty Permitted by the Law of That Country—"Sentence Me," He Said, "I am Indifferent; I Await the Next Revolution"—He Declares That He Had No Accomplices.

Milan, Aug. 29—Bresci, the anarchist who on July 20, shot and killed King Humbert, of Italy, at Monza, while His Majesty was returning from gymnastic exhibition, was tried, convicted and sentenced today to imprisonment for life, the highest sentence for murder under the Italian law. An immense crowd gathered about the court from early morning, seeking admission to the court-room, where only a few places were reserved for the ticket-holding public. The hearing began at 9 o'clock. Bresci sat it the dock, calm and almost indifferent. His counsel, Signor Martelli, head of the Milan bar, and the anarchist writer, Signor Melano, represented him.

While the indictment, which was very long, was being read, Bresci was apparently unmoved, and scanned the faces of the audience without any signs of fear. The indictment showed that the assassin indulged in incessant target practice, and that he prepared bullets so as to render them more dangerous.

The witnesses were then introduced. There were 11 for the prosecution and five for the defense. The examination of Bressel followed. He declared that he decided to King Humbert after the events in Milan and Sicily, "to avenge the misery of the people and my own." He also said: "I acted without advice or accomplices."

The prisoner admitted the target practice and the preparation of bullets. He spoke in a low, firm voice and said he fired three shots at three yards with his revolver. Two wooden targets were here placed on the table before the judges.

The public prosecutor made a speech, during the course of which he eulogized the virtues of King Humbert, and recapitulated the story of the assassin, which, he contended, demonstrated that Bresci was fully responsible for his acts, and that the latter premeditated the crime and had accomplices. After denouncing the anarchist theories which brought about such fearful crimes, the public prosecutor denied that Bresci had misery as an excuse, also asserting that he was not a man of impulse or a fanatic, but had a calm cynical and obstinate mind and that his aim was infamous. In conclusion the public prosecutor asked for a verdict of guilty without extenuating circumstances.

Signor Melano said he only wished to do his duty and defended anarchy from the charge that it had inspired the crime. All parties, he said, had their regicides, commencing with Judith. He asked that those in whose hands the prisoner's fate lay, would not act in a spirit of vengeance, but of justice. He claimed extenuating circumstances for the accused man.

Signor Martelli asked that the verdict be tempered with indulgence toward the irresponsible man condemned of a crime committed in a state of exaltation. He spoke of Bresci's previous good conduct and implored pity for the guilty man.

Bresci was given an opportunity to speak and said: "Sentence me, I am indifferent. I await the next revolution." The persons who were to deliberate on the verdict then retired.

Bresci escaped with life imprisonment as that penalty is the most severe that can be imposed under the laws of Italy for murder on which charge the anarchist was tried.

It was at first believed Bresci would be tried on the charge of treason, in which case the penalty would have been death.

With absolute indifference Bresci received the verdict and was led away to his cell, where, henceforth, he will see no one and hear no one, not even his jailer. He gave the impression of an emissary capable of acting coolly, but incapable of conceiving the plan. Notwithstanding his statement in the course of examination that he had no relations with anarchists in America he admitted having received 500 lire at Genoa from Paterson.

WORK OF THE FLAMES.

Mr. Barker's Barn Destroyed—High Point Must Come to the Fair.

Correspondence of The Telegram.

High Point, Aug. 29—Last night about half past eight o'clock the whistle at the High Point Coffin and Casket Company's factory gave a prolonged blast being followed by the other factory whistles joining in with their warning notes, which was readily understood by the inhabitants. It was a signal for fire. A large crowd made haste to the scene and while enroute, judging from the seemingly location of the fire, every one thought it to be the Mytle Furniture Factory, located among a factory district in the western part of the town. But on going further it was seen to be beyond the factories and at the home of Mr. Alex Barker living just outside the incorporate limits. His barn—one of the largest in the county—was in flames with three or four stacks of straw and other property, which was finally destroyed. His dwelling was a good distance from the barn and escaped without damage. It is not known how the fire originated but it is supposed to have started from a spark thrown from the engine of a passing train which found lodgement in one of the stacks of straw where the fire first started. Mr. Barker's loss is several hundred dollars.

By all means arrangements should be made with High Point industries to be represented at the Central Fair in Greensboro in October. Such an exhibit as would come from this place would help make the Fair a stupendous affair and do immeasurable good in the advertising of Guilford county manufacturies especially from the Grand Rapids of the South—High Point. Let the business men get together and see that the products of this place occupy a prominent place at the Fair.

THE SOLDIER'S PAROLE.

What Is Meant by It and How It Is Arranged.

Parole, it must be understood, is a purely voluntary compact. The captor is not obliged to offer to parole his prisoner, and the prisoner is not obliged and cannot be compelled to give his parole.

If he does so, he will probably be released on pledging his word not to serve during the existing war. If he refuses, he will remain captive until the war is over or until he can make his escape.

The usual parole pledge extends only to active service against the enemy. A prisoner released on parole is not breaking his contract if he drills, recruits, quells civil commotions or fights other enemies.

A soldier taken prisoner has no authority to pledge himself never to serve against a particular enemy. He cannot throw off thus lightly the duty he owes his sovereign or country, and if he makes any pledge it must be confined to a limited time.

Moreover, if a prisoner should make a pledge not approved by his own government he is bound to return and surrender himself to the enemy.

In the British army a soldier can only give his parole through a commissioned officer. Even a noncommissioned officer or an officer of inferior rank cannot give parole either for himself or for his men without permission from his commanding officer.

The United States authorities, by the way, give greater liberty of parole than is the case with the British army.

A captured prisoner who has violated his parole may be punished with death.—Pearson's Weekly.

Dr. Clarke's Wise Dog.

"At one time my dog was fond of going to the railway station to see the people, and I always ordered him to go home, fearing he would be hurt by the cars. He easily understood that if he went there it was contrary to my wishes. So whenever he was near the station, if he saw me coming, he would look the other way and pretend not to know me. If he met me anywhere else, he always bounded to meet me with great delight. But at the station it was quite different. He would pay no attention to my whistle or my call. He even pretended to be another dog and would look me right in the face without apparently recognizing me. He gave me the cut direct in the most impertinent manner, the reason evidently being that he knew he was doing what was wrong and did not like to be found out. Possibly he may have relied a little on my nearsightedness in his maneuver."—Outlook.

THURSDAY AUGUST 30, 1900.

THE CIVILIZATION THAT MR. BRYAN WANTS.

Mr. Bryan is a gentleman who enjoys the love of more friends and the antipathy of more enemies than any other man in America Perhaps no man in a quarter of a century has had so many untrue things said of him. In their admiration and zeal, his friends overrate him. In their dislike, his enemies misrepresent him. The latter charge that he is a dozen things that he is not. One of the chief charges made against him is that he is against wealth and is for socialism or confiscation. There was never a more false charge. In his speech Saturday at Omaha he said:

I have my idea of what civilization should mean. I want to see if it is your idea. Some people say that we Democrats are enemies of prosperity. It is not true. I have a home. I hope I may some day have a better one. I would that every head of a family had a home, and the better the home, the happier would I be. I want prosperity to be the reward of industry and I want every citizen to be secure in the enjoyment of the proceeds of his toil. I do not envy the rich. I am not desirous of pulling them down. I want a civilization that makes every poor man hope to be better off and relieves the rich man of the fear that his children will be trampled on if they ever become poor.

I want a civilization that embraces within its benefits every deserving member of society. I do not want a civilization that will prevent a man from riding in a carriage, but I want a civilization that gives hopes to the driver of the carriage as well as the man who rides in it. I want a civilization that gives hope to the girl who works in the kitchen as well as the one who works in the parlor. I want a civilization that makes life worth living to every human being. And when I speak thus, I am not an unselfish man. I am selfish. I do not know what may be my life in the years to come. I do not know what may be the lot of my children, and if I dared to favor a system that helped the few at the expense of the many, my children might be among the many who will suffer rather than among the few who will profit by the law.

We have before spoken of the fact that Mr. Bryan stands for that essential principle of true Americanism—equality of opportunity. The above extract expresses that principle exactly. It is the principle that this country's institutions were founded upon, it is what has made them great, and its perpetuation is the only thing that can keep us from the most stagnating socialism on the one hand or class rule on the other. There is no escape from this proposition, and if Mr. Bryan can contribute towards maintaining the condition of things he describes, we are willing to contribute whatever is in our power towards his election. His position is not revolutionary but is simply a restatement of the fathers' ideas of exact justice to all, and any one who wants more than this wants more than he deserves. That Mr. Bryan may be for silver and Mr. McKinley for gold is not the essential difference between them. The difference lies deeper.

When Ben and Grover put on their linen dusters and start on their first excursion to the Annual Peace Conference they will no doubt soften the monotony of travel by swapping election jokes.

OUR PULL MENACED.

After reciting the "differences" that existed between the pension department and the Grand Army, the report of the proceedings of yesterday's session of the latter, at Chicago, says:

The committee on legislation for veterans in public service made a long report, declaring that veterans were not given a preference in the public service, and that political pull counted for more than honorable military service. Complaint was especially made of "petty bosses" who ignored veterans. It contained this paragraph:

"During the year the chairman of your committee has many times had occasion to go to our comrade, William McKinley, President of the United States, in the interest of other comrades who needed help or protection, and never in vain."

There was a time when the members of the Grand Army had the respect of the country. We verily believe that they are without it today in a large measure. From a body that might have been magnified, in the eyes of partial admiration, into hero s, their organization has become an organization of parasites, if such resolutions as the above express the sentiment of the body. With all the millions that have been poured into their pockets year by year, they are ever unsatisfied and persistently squealing for more. In saying this we do not mean to detract from the deserving honor of the real soldiers, nor do we wish to be understood as condemning a reasonable system of pensions. But under the guise of patriotism the government has been systematically robbed for years, and the robbers, unsatisfied with the enormous booty already secured, are constantly placing their so-called patriotic services upon the sale block, and using their voting strength as a menace to force the price. One of the things we desire to live for is to see the day when the so-called heroes of the Grand Army will have no pull at all.

Were it not a lowering by such comparison, we would contrast the record of the Confederate soldier since the great struggle with the record of the Grand Army pullers.

The card of Hon. A. M. Waddell in announcing his candidacy for the Senate is a gem. Its brevity does not detract from its excellence. It is as frank and straightforward and modest as words could make it.

Had we been told that an European monarch might be murdered and his slayer escape, after being caught, on any less than the death penalty, we should not have believed it.

Will the bright local editor of the Charlotte News give us more information concerning the "male Daughter of Liberty?"

Corkscrew Seed.

There are some seeds which "literally corkscrew themselves into the ground." The most remarkable instance is perhaps that of the Spina pennata, a beautiful south European grass. The actual seed is small, with a sharp point and stiff short hairs pointing backward. The top end of the seed is produced into a fine, twisted, corkscrewlike rod, which is followed by a plain cylindrical portion, ending in a long, delicate feather, the whole being more than a foot in length. Owing to this feather the seed falls to the earth point downward and sticks in the ground.

But even if the seed should settle on its side, damp, by acting on the hairs attached to it, causes it to rise up till its point is downward. If a shower comes on or dew falls, the spiral unwinds, elongating itself upward. Being covered, like the seed, with backward pointing hairs, it usually presses against some blade of grass or other obstacle, with the result that the seed is pressed into the ground.

On the spiral becoming dry again, it curls up, and the seed is not drawn out of the ground owing to its backward pointing hairs, but the spiral and the feather are easily drawn down. On the return of damp the spiral again unwinds and, acting as before, drives the seed still farther down until at last it is quite buried.

The combined catch of cod by all the fisheries of the world is estimated at 500,000,000 pounds annually, most of which is exported to tropical countries after having been hard dried.

Our Endurance.

During life each member of the human body produces poison to itself. When this poison accumulates faster than it can be eliminated, which always occurs unless the muscle has an interval of rest, then will come fatigue, which is only another expression for toxic infection.

If the muscle is given an interval of rest, so that the cell can give off its waste product to keep pace with the new productions, the muscle will then liberate energy for a long time. This latter condition is what we call endurance.

Like any other ponderous and intricate machine, the body requires time to get in harmonious working order. The brain, nerves, heart and skeletal muscles must be given some warning of the work they are expected to perform. Ignorance of this fact has broken down many a young man who aspired to honors on the cinder path.

The necessity of getting all the parts of the body slowly in working order is well understood by trainers and jockeys on the race track, as is evinced by the preliminary "warming up" they give their horses, although it is doubtful if the trainers could give any physiologic reason for their custom.—Popular Science.

Witchcraft.

"The sixteenth and seventeenth centuries," said John Fiske, "were the flourishing ages of the witchcraft delusion. Witchcraft, in the early ages, was considered one of the greatest of crimes, as much so as murder, robbery or any other serious offense against the law, and the belief in it was shared by the whole human race until the latter part of the seventeenth century.

"In England, in 1664, two women were tried before Sir Matthew Hale, charged with bewitching several girls and a baby, and they were put to death, for at that time the evidence seemed perfectly rational. In 1615, in Genoa, 500 people were burned to death on the charge of witchcraft. It was the proud boast of a noted executioner in northern Italy, at this time, that in 15 years he had assisted in burning 900 persons charged with sorcery. In Scotland, between 1560 and 1600, 8,000 people were put to death, an average of 200 a year. The last execution for witchcraft in England took place in 1712, in Scotland in 1722, in Germany in 1749 and in Spain in 1781."

Parried the Thrust.

A lady had in her employ an excellent girl who had one fault. Her face was always in a smudge. Her mistress tried, without offending, to tell her to wash her face and at last resorted to strategy.

"Do you know, Bridget," she remarked in a confidential manner, "it is said that if you wash the face every day in hot, soapy water it will make you beautiful?"

"Will it?" said Bridget. "Sure, it's a wonder ye niver tried it, ma'am!"—Our Dumb Animals.

Got the Change.

"Why were you tempted to steal this man's purse?"

"Because my doctor recommended me to take a little change."

Next to the Consumer is where we stand in the lumber business. At the kicking post, as it were, in regard to prices.

First comes the owner of the timber. He just woke up to the value of it and wants double last year's prices. Then the sawmill man. He has not been making a fortune and thinks now he should share a little in the general prosperity

They say to us: "We must have so much for our trees and work." After a while it is "up to you." Don't kick. You don't suppose we have nerve enough to put up prices unless they had first been put up on us. No, indeed. But prices are NOT high. They have been to low and are just now getting reasonable. Your children will be glad to build at double the price it now costs you. It is a trite, but true saying, if you want to build, "Now is the time."

LIBERTY GETS A SHINE.

The "Daughters of Liberty," representatives largely from the North and New England, are in session in Charlotte. The News of that place thus describes the way some of the Daughters do:

The shirt waits man and the barber shop woman are both here. They are in the crowd that, under the nomenclature of Daughters of Liberty, have had posession of the city for two days. The shirt waist man on the streets is not a novelty, but up to today the shirt waist man in a hotel dining room has been something that belonged to the North, but not to the South. Today two of the male Daughters of Liberty walked into the Buford dinning room, sans coat (but not sans gall) and ate their dniner dressed in this fashion.

The female Daughters—about six or eight of them—took the Buford barber shop by storm this morning. They occupied the chairs on the left reserved for those who wait their turn in the chair, while each took her turn in the boot-black's chair, and had her shoes blacked. The sight of a woman in a boot black's chair in a barber shop was something new under the sun in the South. Men were being shaved on one side of the shop, while women where having a "shine, sir," on the left. There were studies in scarlet, polka dots, blacks and bars.

WILKINSON SOLD OUT.

Silent Spectator at Sale—Will Take Steps to Secure Miss Packard's Release.

Dr. Howard M. Wilkinson, the gentleman who loved not wisely, nor well, has been sold out, lock, stock and barrel. Says a special from Dover, Del., to the New York World yesterday:

"The drug store of Dr. Howard M. Wiklinson, the eloping druggist, was put at constable's sale today and knocked down to R H. Van Dyke, attorney for the creditors, for $2,320. The estimated value of the stock was $8,000. The goods that had been sent to Charlotte, N. C., were also sold, the purchaser 'taking chances' on getting possession of them. John D. Hawkins, a warm personal friend of Wilkinson, was the buyer, and, it is presumed he will turn them over to Wilkinson when they are received. They were worth $1000, but were bid in at $500.

"Wilkinson was a silent spectator of the sale. He acknowledged that he did not know where Miss Josephine Packard was, but said he expected to see her soon and begin legal proceedings for her release from confinement."

PAYING FOR A MEAL.

It Was Worth a Shilling to Pick Those Bones.

Colonel Ebenezer Sproat, of Revolutionary fame, was born and bred in Middleboro, Mass. He was always fond of a joke and was quick to seize an opportunity to indulge his propensity, as the following incident, related by Dr. Hildreth, well illustrates. His father, also a Colonel Sproat, kept a tavern. One day while Ebenezer was at home on a furlough three private soldiers, on their return from the seat of war, called for a cold luncheon.

Mrs. Sproat set on the table some bread and cheese with the remnants of the family dinner, which her son thought rather scanty fare for hungry men. He felt a little vexed that the defenders of the country were not more bountifully supplied. The soldiers, after satisfying their appetites, asked him how much they should pay. Ebenezer said he would ask his mother. He found her in the kitchen.

"Mother," he said, "how much is it worth to pick those bones?"

"About a shilling, I guess," she answered.

The young officer returned to the soldiers, and, taking from the barroom till 3 shillings and smiling genially upon them, gave each man one and with good wishes sent them on their way. Mrs. Sproat soon after came in and asked Ebenezer what he had done with the money for the soldiers' dinner.

In apparent amazement he exclaimed: "Money! Did I not ask you what it was worth to pick those bones, and you said a shilling? I thought it little enough, for the bones were pretty bare, and I handed the men the money from the till, and they are gone."

Mrs. Sproat could not find heart to reprove her favorite son for this misinterpretation of her words, and then she, too, loved a joke, and so, after an instant's glum look, she laughed and said it was all right.—Youth's Companion.

EFFECTIVE REPROOFS.

Payson Tucker Had a Quick Eye and Pointed Methods.

Two incidents in the railroad life of Payson Tucker are told that well illustrate what a worker he was and his attention to the details of business.

Several years ago he was up on the mountain division of the Maine Central road and looked over the grounds of one of the stations. Nothing more than the usual conversation passed, and he returned to his car and went back to Portland. Nearly a year passed before he had occasion to call at the station again, and then he stepped off the car and asked pleasantly:

"Do you have all the help you want here?"

"Yes, sir; all that we need."

"Quite sure you have enough?"

"Yes, sir. There is not much to be done at so small a station."

"Well, I feared you were rushed to death and could not find time to remove that pile of old bricks I saw the last time I was here."

With that the general manager of the road stooped over the pile of bricks and, without removing his kid gloves, continued the work until the last one was neatly piled up.

At another time a break had been committed at one of the stations on the back road, and the next day after the notice of the break had been wired to Portland Mr. Tucker chanced to pass that way. After looking things over, Mr. Tucker asked what had been lost, and the agent quickly ran over the amount of money and tickets stolen.

"That all?" asked Mr. Tucker, when the agent had concluded.

"Yes, sir; nothing else."

"That so?" said Mr. Tucker, taking in the untidy appearance of the room and station at a glance. "I feared some one had stolen your broom. Perhaps you have not missed it. I will send you one."—Presque Isle (Me.) Star-Herald.

CANCER

Sufferers from this horrible malady nearly always inherit it—not necessarily from the parents, but may be from some remote ancestor, for Cancer often runs through several generations. This deadly poison may lay dormant in the blood for years, or until you reach middle life, then the first little sore or ulcer makes its appearance—or a swollen gland in the breast, or some other part of the body, gives the first warning.

To cure Cancer thoroughly and permanently all the poisonous virus must be eliminated from the blood—every vestage of it driven out. This S. S. S. does, and is the only medicine that can reach deep-seated, obstinate blood troubles like this. When all the poison has been forced out of the system the Cancer heals, and the disease never returns.

Cancer begins often in a small way, as the following letter from Mrs. Shirer shows:

A small pimple came on my jaw about an inch below the ear on the left side of my face. It gave me no pain or inconvenience, and I should have forgotten about it had it not begun to inflame and itch; it would bleed a little, then scab over, but would not heal. This continued for some time, when my jaw began to swell, becoming very painful. The Cancer began to eat and spread, until it was as large as a half dollar, when I heard of S. S. S. and determined to give it a fair trial, and it was remarkable what a wonderful effect it had from the very beginning; the sore began to heal and after taking a few bottles disappeared entirely. This was two years ago; there are still no signs of the Cancer, and my general health continues good.—MRS. R. SHIRER, La Plata, Mo.

SSS is the greatest of all blood purifiers, and the only one guaranteed purely vegetable. Send for our free book on Cancer, containing valuable and interesting information about this disease, and write our physicians about your case. We make no charge for medical advice.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for indigestion or biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of appendicitis, nervous prostration or heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and othaches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to moke you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. For sale by Grissom & Fordham.

THE FIRST INDIA INK

IT WAS ACCIDENTALLY MADE BY A CHINESE ALCHEMIST.

Like Many Other Things Which Have No Relation Whatever to Their Names, India Ink Has No Connection With India.

For many thousand years india ink has been to the artist and to the artisan the vehicle for the creation of much that is interesting and instructive and beautiful in the world of art, and it has a rather extraordinary history.

Like many other things which have no relation whatever to their names, india ink has no relation whatever to India. The Irish potato, it is said facetiously, is so called because it was found first in Peru. Therefore india ink may have been so named because it was made first in China, where the bulk of it has been made ever since.

Also, like most other things of practical utility to mankind, india ink was not an invention, but a discovery—that is to say, the individual who produced it first did so entirely by accident, without the remotest intention of doing anything sensible or useful.

About 3,000 years before the Christian era a Chinese alchemist, Tien-Tschen by name, while experimenting upon some nostrum for the eternal preservation of life or upon some formula for converting dirt into gold—it matters not what—accidentally concocted a black substance in the form of a liquid paint or varnish. This concoction was the first india ink.

The black pigment which forms the base of the ink was the soot obtained by burning lac and pine charcoal. This soot was powdered finely and mixed with some kind of size or glue. Fish glue, or isinglass, was used as well as bone or horn glue, and sometimes, in making the finer qualities of ink, pearls were boiled in glue. Sometimes dried ox tongue was added to give the ink a purple tint, and the bark of the pepper tree was used to produce a tinge of blue. The ink was carefully molded, dried and packed in wormwood leaves with lime or ashes until well seasoned.

It is not stated whether sepia, the coloring liquid of the cuttlefish, was added to the ink originally or not; but, as the best india ink in use at present has a brownish tint, as if mixed with sepia, it is evident that sepia is used now in the manufacture of the ink. Sepia alone is used frequently in China in preference to the black ink.

As soon as it was discovered that india ink was likely to be serviceable to mankind it was perceived by the imperial diet to be a dangerous innovation upon the established custom of "not" having it to use. The empire had got along very well without india ink prior to its discovery, and it was Chinese public policy "to let well enough alone." Therefore the use of the ink was declared to be sacrilegious, and its manufacture was prohibited.

Apparently there were "millions" in india ink in those days, for a sharp competition in its production arose, and this was the beginning of trouble for artists and draftsmen. The market was glutted with worthless grades. At first the ink was superfine in quality, and the lampblack used in it was ground into an impalpable powder so fine that it was as volatile as vapor and possessed in itself an odor of musk. Later, when competition corrupted its production, coarser and cheaper pigments were substituted for the fine ones, and the ink was artificially perfumed with musk in order to disguise its inferiority.

The Chinese are passionately fond of musk, and india ink was used by them not only as a writing material, but also as a flavor for their choicest beverages. A little india ink rubbed in water was considered then a delicious drink, but modern india ink can hardly be recommended as a safe medium for interior decoration of that sort.

We are informed by the distinguished historian that all "good" india ink is inhabited by gods. (In China there are so many gods that it is difficult to find lodgings for them all; they are billeted, therefore, upon any convenient article, such as a stick of india ink.) From this startling disclosure of the historian we might be justified in presuming that all "bad" india ink is inhabited by devils. This view of the matter would account for the multitudinous trials and tribulations which beset the unhappy draftsman who tries to make a drawing with poor india ink, for certainly in unmitigated wickedness and total depravity india ink has few equals and no superiors.—Weekly Bouquet.

TAKE WATER FOR MEDICINE.

A Health Producer Which Is Available Everywhere.

There is no doubt that we do not drink enough. Our bodies consist largely of water, and the average man needs to drink from four to six pints of water daily in order to maintain health. This is the amount of water eliminated from the body by means of the kidneys, the skin and lungs. It is evident that a fresh supply is constantly needed to supply this lost aid in the process of digestion and carry away waste matter.

If the amount of water imbibed is not sufficient for all this, the health must suffer. Air, water and food are the essentials of life in the order given.

A person can fast a long time—experiments have proved this—but that same person could not get along without water for that length of time.

As a usual thing women are the ones who suffer the most from an insufficiency of water. Mothers should see to it that their children have plenty of water to drink.

There is a diversity of opinion regarding drinking at meals. Some assert that the practice is injurious, as it dilutes the gastric juice. Others again claim that a glassful of pure drinking water taken during the process of mastication is healthful. On one point, however, all authorities agree—namely, that ice water is injurious.

Generally speaking, the theory advocated by the best physicians nowadays is to drink often and much. It cleanses the system, increases circulation and helps to make a clear complexion. Therefore, ye men and women, the latter especially, drink. Take clear, pure, sterilized water and be thankful so simple a remedy of nature is near at hand.—Table Talk.

Fireproof Safes.

"For city use in modern buildings," said a safe manufacturer, "safes are nowadays made thinner walled than formerly, thus giving them more room inside in proportion to the space the safe occupies. The modern building is fireproof, or substantially so, and in case of fire the safe does not fall down through the burned floors into a mass of burning debris in the cellar, but it stays where it has been placed, supported by the steel floor beams of the room and, with less around it to burn, subjected to comparatively less heat.

"Under such conditions the thin walled safe is as fireproof as the thick walled safe would be under the conditions in which it is used in the old style buildings, for use in which the thick walled safe is still commonly sold."—New York Sun.

PREVENTED A TRAGEDY.

Timely information given Mrs. George Long, of New Straitsville, O., prevented a dreadful tragedy and saved two lives. A frightful cough had kept her awake every night. She tried many remedies and doctors but steadily grew worse until urged to try Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle cured her, and she writes this marvelous medicine also cured Mr. Long of a severe attack of pneumonia. Such cures are positive proof of the matchless merit of this grand remedy for curing all throat, chest and lung troubles. Only 50c and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed. Trial bottles free at C. E. A Gastronomic Cyclone.

All men and women eat. If they don't, they won't last long, and no one need worry as to whether they count for much or not. But good eaters are usually very depend-on-able. By good eaters I do not mean large eaters or greedy eaters, though I may include some of both, but I mean the men and women who enjoy what they eat and show no disposition, either from dyspepsia or other form of indigestion, to quarrel with their food.

Gluttons, however, are not very lovely. I sat at table once with a woman at a summer resort who every day for dinner ate 12 ears of corn from the cob. That is more than the regulation midday feed for a horse. And in the operation she greased her hands and her cheeks, and every now and again her nose was decorated with the well buttered grains. She was a sight, and at the end of the table she bred a famine that it took waiters to relieve. And she was in repose not by any means a bad looking woman, but in action—in action at the table—she was a kind of human cyclone, leaving desolation in her path. She had had three husbands and is a widow again. What became of the poor men I never knew. Maybe she ate them.—John Gilmer Speed in Criterion.

ADS CREATE BUSINESS.

If a broker can create business by special advertising in the newspapers, then almost anybody else who has dealing with the public can. Instead of merely publishing his business card, according to the custom of his fellows, a New York stock broker gave reasons every day in his newspaper ads why persons who could afford it should speculate. The result was a great increase in his business, chiefly through people who had not intended to invest in stocks and who would never have been reached by his circular letters. If they should be asked, a great many people would do things they had not before thought of doing.
